MATTERN TO TRY FLIGHT TO MOSCOW

American Flyer Announces Plans for Over-the-Pole Refueling Hop

SAYS $90,000 PLANE HAS BEEN ACQUIRED

OAKLAND, Cal., June 23 (P).—Plans for a nonstop refueling flight from Oakland to Moscow were announced today by James Matern, noted aviator, who said he would follow the route taken by the three Soviet airmen who flew from the Russian capital to Vancouver, Wash., last week.

Matern said M. L. Benedum, Pittsburgh, Pa., oil man, had backed him in acquisition of a $90,000 plane which he would take from Burbank, Cal., to Oakland tomorrow in the initial test flight.

In 1933 Matern flew from New York to Norway on a projected world flight, but crashed up later in Siberia, where he was rescued by Soviet airmen.

FRIENDLY GESTURE

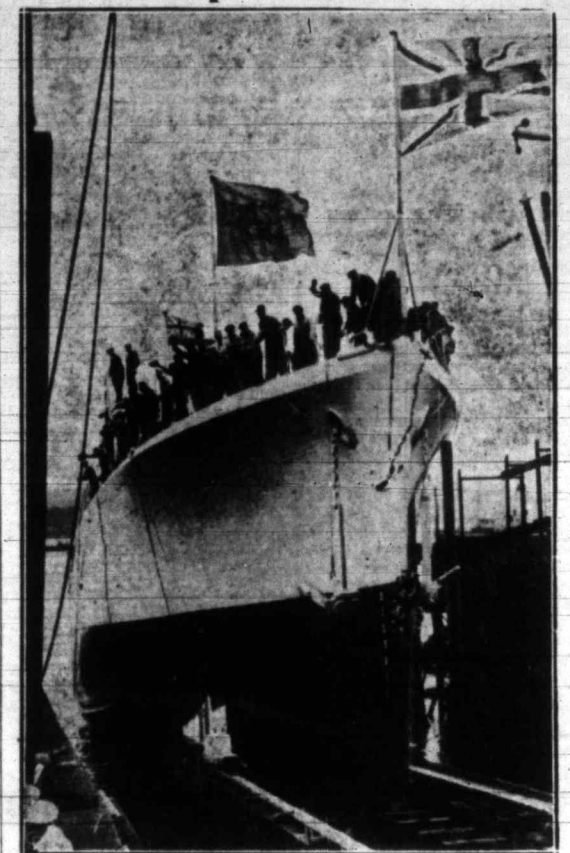

He said his forthcoming flight would be to demonstrate United States aircraft development and as a gesture toward the Russian flyers who aided him in 1933.

Matern made his announcement as the three Soviet flyers, Valeri Chkaloff, Georgi Baidukoff and Alexander Belyakoff, enroute here for New York and Washington, D.C., along with Russian Ambassador Alexander Troyanovsky.

The American flyer met the Russian birdmen at a reception here and later conferred with Troyanovsky.

RAILWAYS TO BE EXPROPRIATED

Mexican Government Will Undertake to Reimburse Bondholders

MEXICO CITY, June 23 (P).—President Lazaro Cardenas tonight announced the Government will expropriate the national railways of Mexico.

The railways, said a presidential decree to be published tomorrow in the Official Gazette, will be administered by a new Federal department to be appointed. It will be empowered to take necessary measures to reorganize the railways and put the system on a profitable basis.

The Government will reimburse foreign bondholders after a valuation of the expropriated properties.

TREASURY VALUATION

The inventory of the property will be under supervision of the Treasury Department, which will determine the amount to be paid to foreign investors.

The railways already have been under operation by the Government, which now holds more than half the capital stock.

The project is another in Mexico's nationalization programme, begun first with expropriation of agricultural land to be allotted to peasants. The oil industry also has been subjected to a measure of nationalization.

The national railways comprise, with leased trackage and subsidiaries, a total of 7,114 miles.

The company was incorporated under ninety-nine-year lease on July 6, 1907, with the Government owning 51.38 per cent of the stock.

Duke's Birthday Observed Quietly

VIENNA, June 23 (P).—The Duke of Windsor marked his forty-third birthday today with no celebration except to entertain two guests at tea. Baron and Baroness Eugene de Rothschild, the Duke's hosts at Ennsfeld Castle just after his abdication, came to tea informally at the Vienna Hotel where the Duke and Duchess are spending a few days.

CANADA ALONE MUST DECIDE UPON DEFENCE

Sir Francis Floud Greeted On Arrival Here by Premier Pattullo

NEW TRADE PACTS ARE SATISFACTORY

The matter of Dominion defence is primarily one for Canada to decide, though it is hoped that anything undertaken in this direction will fit in with what is done by other parts of the Empire. Meanwhile Great Britain is ready to co-operate willingly.

That, in brief, was the assurance, given in an interview here yesterday, by Sir Francis Floud, C.B., K.C.B., High Commissioner for the United Kingdom in Canada.

Visiting the West for the first time during his two and one-half years in Ottawa, Sir Francis, who is accompanied by Lady Floud, was greeted as he stepped from the Vancouver boat, by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Premier of British Columbia.

Sir Francis declared the warmest relationship existed between the Dominion and the Motherland, and declared Britain was well satisfied with the new Imperial trade agreements. "These," he said, "give us a better opportunity than we had before, though of course British Columbia retains all the advantages of the old agreements."

He remarked during the course of his visit.

TRINIDAD SEES PEACE COMING

Government Convinced Has Labor Trouble Now in Complete Control

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, June 23 (P).—Peace negotiations loomed tonight in the labor troubles which have claimed fourteen lives since strikes paralyzed Trinidad's oil and sugar industries Saturday and spread to other businesses on the island.

As H.M.S. Exeter, hurriedly summoned when rioting first broke out Saturday, prepared to land three platoons of marines, Governor Fletcher issued an appeal to strikers to return to work and promised Government assistance in reaching settlement of wage questions.

IN FULL CONTROL

Few further demonstrations occurred today and the Government stated it was convinced the situation was in full control.

Uriah Butler, negro organizer of native labor, was still hunted by police as an announcement today by the Government ascribed responsibility for the riots to him. The only two deaths in police ranks during the strikes and riots followed arrival of a squad of officers to arrest Butler.

Marines from H.M.S. Ajax, which arrived yesterday, stood by machine guns in oil fields where European employees tried to stem flowing oil wells which have been running since native labor deserted over the week-end.

Brilliant Meteor Flashes Over Sky In Eastern Canada

TORONTO, June 23 (P).—What was reported as a meteor at London, Ont., was seen streaking across the sky over Toronto. Observers said it lasted for half an hour and disappeared finally into the south. The David Dunlap Observatory later reported it was a meteor, "phenomenal" in nature. People at Wasaga Beach, on Georgian Bay, called Toronto regarding what they thought was an airplane on fire.

INSURGENTS THUNDER ON

Advancing Westward From Bilbao Capturing Important Towns on Way

PORTUGALETE, Spain, June 23 (P).—The insurgent tide rolled westward from Bilbao tonight toward Santander, last important city held by the Basques.

Artillery thundered in the hills. Five columns of infantrymen moved out of the Bilbao region on roads leading toward Santander.

Insurgents occupied Portugaleta, industrial town and last foothold of Basques along the Nervion Estuary, linking Bilbao to the sea.

So powerful was the new insurgent advance that officers expected to conquer Valmaseda, first main objective, within two days. Valmaseda is west and south of Bilbao, about a third of the distance to Santander.

IMPORTANT PRIZE

Portugalete was a rich prize. The town is jammed with factories, smelters and coal and iron ore deposits. Its wharves were lined with tugs, freighters and barges.

Government troops held out until the very last. They dynamited a bridge linking Portugaleta with Las Arenas, across the Estuary. A number of buildings were burned and much of the population was evacuated.

Bread finally became plentiful in Bilbao. The city rapidly was approaching normality, with radios blaring, street cars running and business houses opening their doors.

Heat Causes Four Deaths In Mid-West

CHICAGO, June 23 (P).—Four deaths were attributed to a midwestern heat wave that held its tightest grip on states in the Upper Mississippi Valley and sent temperatures well over the 100 mark through at least five states yesterday.

The Midwest heat contrasted with cool, wet weather in the Pacific Northwest, where additional rainfall yesterday added to fruit crop damage.

The sun beat down hottest on South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas and Government weather forecasters gave no hope for immediate relief.

Italy and Germany Withdraw From Patrol of Coastal Waters

FUTURE OF SPANISH WAR NOW UNCERTAIN

LONDON, June 23 (P).—Germany and Italy today withdrew for the second time from the non-intervention naval patrol around Spain and left the future of the plan to prevent arms and men from reaching combatants in the Spanish civil war in a state of complete uncertainty.

Indignant at refusal of Great Britain and France to approve a four-power naval demonstration against the Spanish Government, the Fascist and Nazi states rent the neutrality cordon.

Their action left a gap along the eastern coast of Spain, where German and Italian warships supervised the twenty-seven-nation ban on the flow of foreign volunteers and munitions.

Germany, supported by Italy, demanded the anti-Spanish demonstration as a "warning" following alleged attempts by Spanish Government submarines to torpedo the German cruiser Leipzig.

WARSHIPS RECALLED

Germany recalled her warships from the patrol, it was announced, "with the specific intention of avoiding the possibility of aggravating the situation."

Fears she might do more appeared allayed by German Foreign Minister von Neurath's notification to Great Britain she would "confine herself to this action."

Atmosphere of Confidence in France as Premier Chautemps and Finance Minister Bonnet Ready to Work on Restoration of Credit — Will Seek Only Limited Powers

DEAN REBUKED BY ARCHBISHOP

Primate Regrets Bringing of Name of Canterbury Into Political Controversy

LONDON, June 23 (P).—The Archbishop of Canterbury, addressing the Church of England Assembly today, expressed regret that the Dean of Canterbury, Dr. Hewlett Johnson, "should have brought into the arena of acute political controversy the name of the Cathedral Church of Canterbury with the special world-wide associations which surround that name."

The Archbishop referred to the Dean's support of the Spanish Government in the civil war.

The question of German church matters was raised by the Bishop of Chichester, Rt. Rev. George Bell, and the Bishop of Gloucester, Rt. Rev. Arthur Heslhead.

The Bishop of Gloucester asked for recognition "the great majority of people in Germany who accept National Socialism," believe "it represents a strong spiritual influence . . . and may be looked upon as a real representation of Christianity."

The statement was sharply criticized by the Bishop of Chichester, who declared it "most misleading and unjust."

"If we were to make an appeal to Hitler," he said, "I would say to him that we in the churches of England want friendship with Germany and we want to make amends for the injustice Germany suffered under the Versailles Treaty."

"But you (Hitler) are making our position impossible by your treatment of Jews and non-Aryan Christians. We appeal to you not to use your powerful might to oppress and persecute those who are much weaker than yourself."

GUARDS HONORED BY HIS MAJESTY

King George Presents New Colors To 1st Battalion of Brigade At Palace

LONDON, June 23 (P).—The King, as Colonel-in-Chief of the Brigade of Guards, today presented new colors to the First Battalion of Scots Guards, of which regiment he was colonel as Duke of York.

The Duke of Gloucester, the present colonel, accompanied His Majesty. Both wore the broad green ribbon of the Order of the Thistle across their scarlet tunics.

QUEEN IS PRESENT

After the new colors had been consecrated by the regimental chaplain, the King handed them to a kneeling officer. The ceremony, on the lawn at Buckingham Palace, was watched by the Queen, Princess Elizabeth and Margaret, Queen Mary and the Duchess of Gloucester.

"Your battalion is the first since my accession to which I present new colors," the King said in a short address to the soldiers. "I am proud that it should be so. As colonel I had long acquaintance with you and now as colonel-in-chief I know what to expect of you."

PARKERS ARE FOUND GUILTY

Sentence to Be Passed on Wednesday for Conspiring in Hauptmann Case

NEWARK, N.J., June 23 (P).—Ellis H. Parker, forty years a rural detective, was convicted with his son in Federal Court tonight of conspiracy to seek to thwart the execution of Bruno Hauptmann and become famous by producing his own "true solution."

The jury of eight housewives and four men recommended leniency. The sentence, which is discretionary with the court and could be anything up to life imprisonment, will be passed next Wednesday by Federal Judge William Clark.

SPECIFIC CHARGE

Parker, sixty-five-year-old chief of Burlington County detectives, and his son, Ellis, Jr., twenty-six, were charged specifically with violating the so-called Lindbergh law by conspiring to abduct Paul H. Wendel, former Trenton lawyer, and force from him the false confession to the Lindbergh kidnapping, which delayed Hauptmann's death seventy-two hours.

Three other men—Murray Bleefeld, Martin Schlossman and Harry Weiss—who were placed on trial with the Parkers, pleaded guilty soon after the trial began. Bleefeld and Weiss testified for the Government.

The sentence is discretionary with the judge. Although the maximum under the law is the death penalty, Judge Clark in his charge had ruled out that possibility.

BELGIAN POLICE BATTLE VETERANS

Demonstration Against Release From Prison of Traitors Causes Seven-Hour Fight

BRUSSELS, June 23 (CP-Havas).—Police and war veterans fought for seven hours today in Brussels streets as more than 4,000 veterans staged a demonstration against an amnesty granted by Parliament to Belgians imprisoned for treason during the Great War.

The Cabinet was hastily called together tonight after King Leopold himself received a delegation of the war veterans. They demanded immediate resignation of the Cabinet, headed by Paul Van Zeeland, who now is in Washington, and dissolution of both Houses of Parliament. The King assured the former soldiers he would examine their requests in his capacity as a constitutional monarch.

Victoria Ballots in B.C. Election Being Counted by Request

Four Conservatives and Four Liberals in Leading Eight Places, Though Only Four May Be Elected To Seats in Nineteenth Provincial Legislature

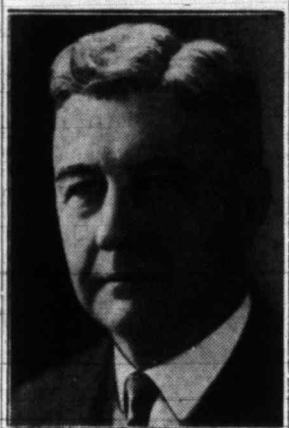

VICTORIA Conservatives yesterday formally asked for an official count of ballots cast in this riding at the general provincial election, and secured action on this request. Under H. E. A. Courtney, returning officer for the riding, ballot boxes in Ward One were opened and an official tally commenced in the presence of candidates and their agents. Counting is expected to proceed for about ten days.

Ballots cast for the eighteen candidates in all wards must be passed upon and counted, after which will take place a ballot by ballot check of the absentee votes cast at points outside of the riding for candidates standing here. Plebiscite figures may be accepted from the initial poll statements, the health insurance measure having been decisively defeated in Victoria riding.

Up to 2 p.m. yesterday, five ballot boxes had been checked, all in Ward One.

EIGHT IN RUNNING
Broadly speaking, four Conservatives and four Liberals are still in the running for four seats in the nineteenth Legislature. The order of standing announced on the night of the poll was changed by a re-check of poll statements next day, and the official count now is to set at rest any doubt as to the outcome here. Entire Conservative and Liberal slates are in the first eight places, with only four candidates, however, to be elected.

The last order of standing announced after the poll on June 2 was as follows: Hon. John Hart (L.), Herbert Anscomb (C.), Alderman J. D. Hunter, M.D. (C.), Alderman W. T. Strath (L.), Bruce A. McKelvie (C.), Byron I. Johnson (L.), Mrs. Nancy Hodges (L.), and Fred A. Willis (C.). Ten other candidates ran, but their respective tallies were considerably below those of the leading eight contestants.

The official count will proceed from day to day at Room 207 Central Building until completed. Partial figures for Ward One were available last evening, but conveyed little by themselves.

PREMIER SAYS CHANGES DUE

British Columbia Yukon-Minded, Leader of Government Emphasizes

Though British Columbia has not yet taken over the Yukon, Premier Pattullo declared interest yesterday in press dispatches from Washington, D.C., quoting Congressional interest in an international park along the Alaska-Yukon boundary. The Premier issued a written statement, worded as follows:

"With regard to reported suggestion of the establishment of an international park between the Yukon and Alaska, I am not aware of any official suggestion having been made. British Columbia and the Yukon have, of course, been interested for a long time in the fact that there is no port of entry to the Canadian territory.

"The dispatches corroborate what I stated recently, namely, that the United States will carry out very extensive and new development in Alaska, which I think will be very beneficial to the Yukon Territory."

TRADE UPSWING IS CONTINUING

Canadian Economic Revival For 1936 Greatest in British Columbia

OTTAWA, June 23 (C.P.).—Retail trade in Canada improved moderately in 1936, according to a preliminary report by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, based on the annual census of retail merchandising firms.

The improvement continued an upswing which began in 1933 and continued through 1934 and 1935, and is calculated to bring the dollar value of retail trade for 1936 to within approximately 22 per cent of the 1930 level.

Dealers in motor cars and lumber and other building materials made the best showing in point of increased business. Furniture and jewelry stores reported increased sales and retail food prices advanced.

SALES EVERYWHERE HIGHER
Country general sales showed a wide variation over the country but everywhere were higher. The increase ranged from 2.8 per cent for Alberta to 19.9 per cent for Prince Edward Island.

Provincial figures indicated British Columbia experienced the greatest trade revival. Improvement there exceeded the Dominion average for seventeen of the twenty-three kinds of business listed. Saskatchewan came second in the ratio of improvement with better than average increases in fifteen lines, and Quebec third with better than average in thirteen lines. Alberta sales were lower in 1936 than in 1930 on twenty of twenty-three lines.

BAYONETS FLASH IN OHIO STEEL AREAS

against the movement of non-strikers in and out of the Republic Steel plant under protection of National Guard rifles and machine guns.

The guardsmen were ordered into the Mahoning Valley by Governor Martin L. Davey yesterday. With rifles lowered, they came running toward a crowd of several hundred C.I.O. strikers who had surrounded a Chicago (Times) newspaper photographer, seized his camera and smashed it.

The crowd retreated, booing and shouting. Coupled with the C.I.O.-announced general strike, a statement by John McKown, C.I.O. organizer, that "a march by 50,000 union men from other cities might be called to protest alleged discrimination against steel strikers," stirred apprehension among authorities tonight.

SITUATION UNCHANGED
At the same time, in Cleveland, Frank Purnell, president of Youngstown Sheet & Tube, admitted that despite the renewed day-long efforts of President Roosevelt's Federal mediation board to effect a solution, the situation in the twenty-eight-day-old steel strike remained "unchanged."

The widespread labor controversy already has cost an estimated $12,000,000 and twelve lives.

In Washington Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins announced: "Federal mediators are making very fine progress towards a solution."

Nevertheless, the prime matter in dispute—the question of signed labor contracts—remained a stone wall blocking the path of the Federal peace-seekers.

Steel executives stood unflinchingly in their refusal to sign on

IRELAND READY FOR ELECTIONS

Candidates Now Number 250—Voting to Take Place on July 1

DUBLIN, June 23 (C.P.).—More than 250 candidates, 100 of them stand-bearers of Eamon de Valera's Fianna Fail, were formally nominated today for the Irish Free State general election July 1.

While the Government party named the largest number of candidates, the fine Gael oppositionists, led by former President William Cosgrave, were close behind with ninety-seven. William Norton's Labor ranks named twenty-three, with Independents and Independent Labor nominees bringing up the rear as regards numbers.

The campaign leading up to the ninth Dail, as compared with 1922 in the House recently dissolved, already is in full and vigorous swing. The Speaker, holding the 138th seat in the Dail, is returned automatically.

REDUCED MEMBERSHIP.
Reduction in the membership of the Dail has been effected under provisions of the old constitution, which lays down the proportion of deputies to the population and prescribes revision of the constituencies every ten years.

Constituencies which existed since establishment of the Free State have been greatly shaken up in the process. The old practice was to group two small adjoining counties together for election purposes and to leave the large counties as single units. Kerry, Donegal and Galway are among the areas which have been split into two parts.

WARRANTS ISSUED
In another move in the many-angled strike controversy, States Commissioner W. J. Taub issued warrants at Akron, O., for the arrest of the men charged with "interference with United States mails."

President Roosevelt himself kept in almost constant telephonic communication with principals in the dispute. Peace reigned along the Mahoning Valley front, where steel executives, at the eleventh hour, called off a projected back-to-work march yesterday at the personal request of President Roosevelt.

Japan Will Spend Enormous Amount

TOKIO, June 23 (A.P.).—The War Ministry submitted a five-year plan to the Cabinet today, for expenditure of 9,000,000,000 yen (about $2,520,000,000) to triple Japan's industrial capacity by 1943 as a defence measure.

Maimed Warmer of Jasper Park Lay Helpless in Cabin for Week Before Rescue

JASPER, Alta., June 23 (C.P.).—Unable to make any statement and reported in a grave condition, Edward McDonald, veteran Jasper National Park warden, was admitted to Jasper Hospital tonight, after being carried in a horse-borne sling over forty miles of the roughest country in Jasper Park.

A week ago he suffered injuries when his horse, frightened by grisly bears, threw and trampled on him. During the week he lay helpless in his cabin, gathering strength to crawl Tuesday to a telephone line and notify Jasper authorities of his plight. He went without food, it was learned by the rescue party.

DOCTORS HOSTS TO THE GOVERNOR

Distinguished French Radiologists Congratulate Canada on Its Stores of Radium

OTTAWA, June 23 (C.P.).—The Canadian and Ontario Medical Associations today entertained Lord Tweedsmuir and heard a distinguished French radiologist say friends of this country rejoice at evidence of vast stores of radium which permit prophesy of matchless equipment for radium treatment of disease.

The Governor-General told a luncheon meeting of the two association doctors and not pacifists are the true life-savers because disease slays many more people than wars. Dr. Antoine Lacassagne, of the Curie Institute in Paris, congratulated Canada on its great radium ore deposits and envisaged the day when use of radium and its effectiveness in cancer treatment might be extended by intervention of some new physical, chemical or biological aid not now known.

Formal Opening of Sunshine Camp Is Attended by Many

Alderman James Adam Officiates at 1937 Inauguration of Sooke Holiday Resort for Mothers And Children—Camp Routine Outlined

THREE or four mothers with babes in their arms enshrouded in comfortable rocking chairs before a roaring wood fire gave an air of well-established comfort to the big community hall at Sunshine camp at Sooke, as visitors arrived for the formal opening of the hostel yesterday afternoon.

Despite the inclement weather, many visitors from the city were present for this official inauguration of the 1937 camp, and the twenty women and some of the older of the twenty-seven children who had gone into residence the previous day, spent a happy hour or two conducting the guests about the grounds and cottages.

FORMAL OPENING
In the unavoidable absence of Mayor Andrew McGavin, Alderman James Adam officiated at the formal opening. Introduced by Rev. F. Conley, president of the Friendly Help Society, which sponsors the camp, Alderman Adam recalled with gratitude the part played by the late Fred Landsberg in initiating the idea of a holiday camp for mothers and children in need of rest and health-building. The first camp had been opened at Cordova Bay in 1925; the Sooke camp replaced this in 1929. Since Mr. Landsberg's death, W. H. Davies had proved a very able substitute, and under the capable direction of the present committee and staff this year's camp, Alderman Adam prophesied, would be a great success.

There were introduced in turn, Miss Elizabeth Grubb, retiring general secretary of the Friendly Help Welfare Society, and her successor, Miss A. L. McLaughlin; and the members of the staff, Miss D. Gordon Cox, camp mother; Mrs. John Rhodes, the cook; the recreation leader, Miss Helen Campbell; the nurse, Mrs. H. Hodgins; and the two voluntary helpers, Miss Violet Cantwell and Miss Chapman.

CAMP ROUTINE
The day's routine at camp was outlined by Miss Cox. This began with the rising of the staff at 7 o'clock. Mothers and children were called half an hour later. Breakfast is at 8, and there follows the bathing of the babies, preparation of diets for the children, instructive lectures for the mothers, setting-up of camp, walks, games, handicrafts, dinner, afternoon rest, swimming, and water talks, supper and evening story-time. The camp had arranged to have some portable looms for instruction in weaving.

Mr. Davies stated that through the efforts of John Goldie, chairman of the building committee, the beach had been cleared up this year and several improvements to the buildings were being carried out, including re-roofing of some. Swings and other playtime equipment were being installed. Later some of this, including a very fine merry-go-round, presented by the Capitol Iron Works, which is the nucleus of other equipment promised by the same firm, was shown to visitors. Hauling and cement for the merry-go-round were given by Evans, Coleman & Johnson.

SAW CAMP BUILT
Dr. Richard Felton recalled having seen the building of Sunshine Camp and taking great interest in it. He was glad they had a competent nurse to give mothers instruction.

Beautiful flowers decked the tables in the recreation hall, where tea, convened by Miss Sara Spencer, was served after the formal opening, members of the ladies' committee serving. The twelve huts, most of which were built from the original Landsberg fund, but others of which have been furnished by the King's Daughters, the Junior Catholic Women's League, the Camosun Chapter, I.O.D.E.; the Army and Navy Veterans Unit, St. Margaret's School, and Toc H, were visited in turn; also the nursery, given by Mary Croft Esquimalt Chapter, I.O.D.E. A radio, loaned by the B.C. Electric Company, was appreciated.

GLASS FRAGMENTS CAUSE INJURIES

Mrs. Armand Massey Hurt in Head-On Automobile Collision On Hillside Avenue

Facial cuts from flying glass and minor injuries to her right knee were sustained by Mrs. Massey at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon when automobiles driven by Armand Massey, 402 Bay Street, and James McMillan, 1489 Myrtle Street, collided head-on at the intersection of Hillside Avenue and Cedar Hill Road, police report.

Mr. and Mrs. Massey's eight-month-old baby was precipitated to the floor of the automobile and badly shaken up.

Police state that McMillan was proceeding east on Hillside Avenue and had crossed Cedar Hill Road when the collision took place with Massey's automobile traveling west on Hillside Avenue. The Massey machine was badly damaged.

Mrs. Massey and the baby were taken home in a C. & C. ambulance for treatment by Dr. Russell Robertson. Measurements were taken by Constables P. W. Richards, Benjamin Acreman and Douglas Bone.

WEATHER AFFECTS STRAWBERRY CROP

Loganberries and Hay Also Suffer From Showers, According to William C. Kersey

Strawberries are rotting before becoming fully ripe, and sudden hot weather would cause considerable damage by blistering, according to William C. Kersey, manager of Vancouver Island Co-operative Fruit Growers' Exchange.

Unless cool, dry weather is experienced, heavy losses are anticipated by growers because only four cars of berries have been shipped to Prairie Provinces. It was estimated that twenty-five would be dispatched, until inclement weather intervened. Large quantities of berries are being processed, but pickers have been faced with hardships through the muddy condition of fields. Mr. Kersey stated those in the market for berries to preserve would be wise to make their purchases immediately.

He pointed out a continuation of showery weather would undoubtedly damage the loganberry crop through rotting caused by continuously wet fruit hulls.

It was also his opinion that much hay had been damaged on Lower Vancouver Island. In many fields the weight of the moisture caused the grasses to be bent over to the ground.

Facial cuts from flying glass and minor injuries to her right knee were sustained by Mrs. Massey at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon when automobiles driven by Armand Massey, 402 Bay Street, and James McMillan, 1489 Myrtle Street, collided head-on at the intersection of Hillside Avenue and Cedar Hill Road, police report.

Mr. and Mrs. Massey's eight-month-old baby was precipitated to the floor of the automobile and badly shaken up.

Police state that McMillan was proceeding east on Hillside Avenue and had crossed Cedar Hill Road when the collision took place with Massey's automobile traveling west on Hillside Avenue. The Massey machine was badly damaged.

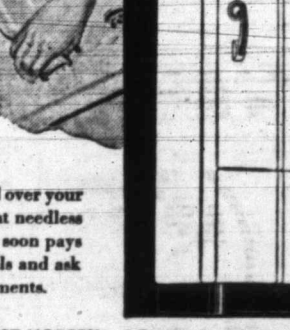

Mrs. Massey and the baby were taken home in a C. & C. ambulance for treatment by Dr. Russell Robertson. Measurements were taken by Constables P. W. Richards, Benjamin Acreman and Douglas Bone.

He pointed out a continuation of showery weather would undoubtedly damage the loganberry crop through rotting caused by continuously wet fruit hulls.

CONCEIT
Conceit is thinking you are better than you are.
It is considering you have got more than you have.
It is having your stuff only in the imagination—when you want it you have not got it.
The ancients used to tell a story which said it all on the subject.
There was a wolf who, roaming the mountainside at sunset, saw his shadow, tremendously elongated and swelled up.
"Here am I," he mused, "in size dreadful to behold. I am as large as an acre. So who's afraid of the big, bad lion! Bring on," he howled defiantly, distended with self-pride and exposing himself to full view, "your misallied king of beasts!"
Suddenly, a lion appeared, fell upon him, killed him.
"Deified me!" were the wolf's last words, as even his shadow disappeared. "Conceit is the cause of my destruction."
The word comes classically by its sense of an over-weening idea of oneself and imminent tragedy.
It is from the Latin conceptus, thought.
It is getting hog-fat with important images or hallucinations—and the end of the hog is the slaughter-house.

SAFETY IN MILK SUPPLY

Compulsory pasteurization of milk for human consumption throughout Canada was advocated in a resolution passed by the council of the Canadian Medical Association, meeting this week at Ottawa. The council viewed with considerable concern the situation in British Columbia, particularly, where consumption of raw milk was increasing. It noted that raw milk may carry germs of a number of diseases which might reach epidemic proportions once introduced into the milk supply.

From time to time the question of compulsory pasteurization arises. Proponents hold that pasteurization is essential to safeguard public health, pointing to epidemics that have been traced to unclean milk. They state that the flavor is not altered and that the food values are not affected except possibly for a decrease in the vitamin content, which is not a sufficient factor to condemn the principle of pasteurization. Opponents contend that the value of the produce is destroyed by the process, the chemical constituents changed by the heat, the vitamin loss irreparable and the flavor is made unpalatable. They contend that the dangers of an epidemic are a bogey.

However, there has been a steady improvement in the method and technique of pasteurization, and there can be no question that the worthwhile objections to pasteurized milk have been eliminated in that improvement. More pasteurized milk is sold today than ever before in the United States the percentage is sixty, whereas fifteen years ago the figure was little more than twenty-five. At the same time there has been a marked decrease in milk-borne outbreaks of communicable disease. It is a safe assumption that the Canadian Medical Association went thoroughly into the subject before passing such a sweeping recommendation.

When mention was made of the situation in British Columbia, it is quite probable that Victoria was one of the sections contributing to the general situation. There are close to 150 producer-vendors supplying the Greater Victoria market and, while certain regulations must be met before milk may be offered for sale for human consumption, there is considerable variation in the product that reaches the consumer. This is recognized by the South Vancouver Island Dairyman's Association, whose membership includes the majority of the producers in this district. It has under way, at present, plans for pasteurization of more of the milk sold on the Victoria market, not because the milk is "unclean," but because it recognizes that by pasteurizing it can be more confident that no communicable disease is being spread in the milk supply. Its stand is that all milk of "B" grade should be pasteurized and that only milk of "A" rating should be allowed in the raw milk market. This proposal is in line with the suggestions of the Canadian Medical Association and certainly would provide Victoria with a safer milk supply. Most other cities in Canada have adopted similar regulations to safeguard public health.

THE UNIVERSAL OCEAN

Speaking in Ottawa recently, Hon. C. D. Howe, Federal Minister of Transport, predicted a sixteen-hour air service between Montreal and Vancouver daily by late summer; a daily coast-to-coast air service in Canada by the Spring of 1938; and complete modern airline communications linking principal Canadian cities before the end of 1939. Such are the plans. It can be said again that Victoria expects a place in those plans, and will have it; but, for the moment, the larger, national issue is of chief interest. Two factors will develop quite fast in the pioneering of air routes across Canada, unless basic principles of flying have changed, and that is not probable. The Rocky Mountains are a real, twenty-four-hour and 365-day problem in any transcontinental air route. Patience will be needed to circumvent one by one the natural obstacles of flying over that range. Today much can be done by means of radio beacons, beam wireless, and in other ways; but so far as the Rockies are concerned, Canada will be well advised to make haste slowly, and conquer each difficulty in a permanent, lasting manner, before passing on to the next. In that way lies safety in flight, and flying rests on public confidence in that safety. The second factor is less obvious, but no less real. Canada is a large country. What with main transcontinental air routes, north and south feeder lines, and radial connecting services, many planes and many pilots will be required to achieve the three-fold objective set out by the Federal Minister of Transport. Pilots, where public carriers are concerned, demands careful, lengthy training. Behind Canada's airway there must be flying schools in one form or another. Provision for the supply of trained and experienced flying personnel cannot be started too soon. The time is now, if a lasting and dependable service is to be given in the future. Meanwhile there is need for patience on the part of the general public, while Canada develops the most important contact of all, connection with the universal ocean of the air. Eighteen years ago Canada could have started these services, but elected to watch other countries do the pioneering in commercial aviation. That policy has had gains and losses; gains because costly experimenting has been eliminated, and losses because Canada is now a long way behind and has a great deal of catching up to do. Keep flying out of politics. Enlist municipal, business and public support. Have a definite, clear-cut plan, and one that is understood in advance by the public, and Canada's permanent air routes and air services can be as efficient as any on the face of the earth. Canadians made good pilots in the war, and they have made fine pilots on the frontier lands in peace. A sixteen-hour service between Montreal and Vancouver is of far less importance than the development of a permanent airway that may be flown twenty-four hours a day, for every day in the year. Flying, as any pilot will tell you, begins on the ground. If ground organization is sound, flying will succeed with all the speed that the most capacious critic could possibly desire. Canada is making a start. Now let everyone help to make it a proper start, and not a skimpy job.

CHEMICAL DEVELOPMENTS

The knowledge he has and the field in which he works combine to make the chemist something more of a practical dreamer than do circumstances and conditions governing the lives of persons in most other walks of life. He is constantly tearing down to rebuild, and in seeking combinations of the elements he is finding new ones, or the possibility of new ones, that keep his hopes buoyed and add to the fires of his imagination. He sees possibilities, sometimes rather remote but none the less possibilities. As he puts these together a picture is formed in his mind, sometimes too indistinct to warrant mention until the outlines are clarified, sometimes clear enough to be a worthwhile pattern, and sometimes as clear as a detailed plan from the draughtsman's board. Steadily he builds, tears down a bit, rebuilds, repeating over and over again. He is patiently impatient, keen to make a contribution to his science, but prepared to proceed slowly and with thoroughness of detail. Recently the Canadian Chemical Association held its annual meeting in Vancouver. There some of the pictures were drawn in words. They showed factual discoveries, imaginings based on facts and prophecies calculated to contribute to the welfare of mankind. Some were perhaps a little cold, some possibly a little bold, and some were warm, cheerful and inspiring; all combined to show that the science of chemistry continues to make an important contribution—that the chemists are alive to the possibilities in their chosen field and alive to some of the important needs of humanity.

From the economic standpoint as applied to the forestry of British Columbia, two of the word pictures were prophetic, based upon facts and built by deliberate reasoning. Dr. Harold Hilbert, director of the department of industry and cellulose chemistry at McGill University, described the increasing utilization of "waste" wood products. Houses built of materials manufactured from "waste" wood were foreseen as the result of progress in the manufacture of plastic compounds of wood chips, sawdust and planings that are stronger than the original. He predicted new types of insulating material and floor composition by manufacture from "waste." He envisioned the conversion of a vast tonnage of waste wood serving a better purpose than as source of fuel through fermentation and conversion into industrial alcohol. He told of remarkable increase in rayon production from 330,000 to 560,000 tons in the last four years, and predicted the manufacture of a special rayon for use in motor car tires, which now provide a market for 100,000 tons of cotton each year. He concluded with the obvious appeal, in view of the increasing use of wood, for forest conservation, which he said is the real and vital issue of the present generation.

Wood formed the picture again when Mr. John H. Jenkins, of the Dominion Forest Products Laboratory, predicted the use of charcoal in place of gasoline as a fuel for motor trucks and stationary engines in outlying parts of British Columbia. Gas-powered engines cost twice as much to run as those operated by charcoal. On the basis of gasoline at 30 cents a gallon and charcoal at $20 a ton, he said that by test it was found that the cost to move one ton a distance of 100 miles was 57 cents when gasoline was the fuel and only 24 cents in the same truck with charcoal as the fuel. He saw no immediate prospect of the bulk of traffic being moved by charcoal-fueled engines, but he was confident there would be a change in the more remote parts of the province where gasoline costs were 50 to 80 per cent higher than in the cities, and where charcoal could be produced easily at low cost from available timber, preferably alder, Douglas fir, pine and cottonwood.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

Sometimes good things are wrapped up so tightly that the contents of the package are not really seen. Out of reams of publicity about fire prevention in the woods, the public has not yet got one good clear picture of how to light a picnic or camp fire so that it will do its work and not burn down the forest. Rangers will tell you four simple rules: Choose an open space away from trees and underbrush. Scrape the ground clear down to the bare soil. Light a small fire, and do your cooking on its embers. When your need of heat has disappeared, put out the fire. Naively rangers will add that ten minutes later you should go back and "put it out" again! All fires within half a mile of forest or bush land must be authorized by permits. Permits may be had free of charge from any forestry office, posts of the provincial police, and most sporting goods stores. Despite general public respect for the need for care with fire in the woods, forest fires destroy more timber yearly in British Columbia than is cut down for mills and export. Lightning sets off some fires, but man sets off most of them. There are two chief causes of man-made fires. One is that people forget that the floor of the forest is made up of pine needles, twigs, dried roots and other burnable matter to a depth of several inches. If a fire is lighted on this debris, it will burn in widening circles, sometimes beneath the surface, until it has set the bush alight. Motorists account for another large number of fires when they throw smouldering matches, cigar and cigarette butts out of the window into dried grass at the side of the road. Glass and oily rags add their own tolls, through action of the sun, and by combustion in the case of oils. Use the forests; don't burn them.

Life sometimes is unkind to people with more than ordinary talent. Without reflection one can call to mind a woman with a grand opera voice who sings most of the scores of the leading musical feasts of the world from memory; yet she sings unheard. The violin is a delicate instrument, capable of extraordinary feeling in the hands of a master. Masters of the violin are rare. There is a real master of the violin, one whose playing is far more akin to genius than many of the virtuosos on the concert stage; yet he plays unheard. So it goes. Victoria is not unlike other towns in this regard, yet Victoria for some reason seemed to have attracted more really talented people than will be found in most communities. Often the talent is suppressed by force of economic circumstances. Pride runs deep and lasting with those who see the world as a stage of opportunity. Sometimes the talent is suppressed because round pegs have got themselves into square holes, and the talent is a hobby that brings a private, secret relief. Sometimes the talent is suppressed because the world genuinely does not know it exists. There are cases where even if the world did know, nothing could be done about it. So it happens that one may hear grand opera on the beach, and crooning on the radio; a perfect violinist in a cabin, and "hotcha" fiddlers on the stage; and so on. Perhaps there are compensations. Perhaps the possession of great talent is of itself a prize worth more than all the flattery and applause an idle, thoughtless world could offer. One likes to think that so. If you would seek talent in this world, look for it in out-of-the-way places. In the front row you will find the exhibitionists, those who make a little talent go a long, long way. In the back row may be those whom the world is waiting for, but cannot find.

It is a strange and thought-provoking fact that the citizens of Pompeii made a more intelligent use of color in their homes and lives than we do today. The romance of color spreads like a chain story through all ages. Primitive Britons daubed their faces with mud. Their women put small round stones into the bluish compound and pressed out rough designs on cloth; quite possibly the origin of the "polka dot." Crusaders traveling in a transverse line across southwestern Europe came back with all the secrets of the East in color. The Mediterranean for long was the home of "royal purple," made from the remains of a small marine animal. Architecture early seized on the possibilities of color, as excavations today in the age-old soil of past centuries will attest. In Pompeii color entered into everything, from walls to floors, from baths to clothing. Ancient Persians also were masters of design in colors. Half of the nations of the world did more with their three primary colors than today we have achieved with all the spread of knowledge and invention. In weapons, in clothing, in painting, in architecture, in humanity itself is the romance of color to be traced. It is an interesting study and one too much neglected in an age that boasts of progress. Compared with the ancients, we are well high color blind.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of June 24, 1897)

Trustee Election.—The election of three school trustees for the next two years took place yesterday. Very little interest was manifested in the proceedings, which were conducted in a quiet manner. The following were returned: D. R. Harris, James Bay Ward, elected by acclamation; Charles Hayward, Yates Street Ward, re-elected unanimously; J. R. Ferguson, Johnson Street Ward, elected by 52 majority. The poll in the latter ward stood: Ferguson, 90; Peil, 38; south ballots, 2.

Nanaimo Notes.—On Monday the miners engaged in repairing the No. 1 shaft of the Vancouver Coal Company, near the site of the engine house at the head of the new slope, discovered a few bones of a dead Chinaman. From the position of the bones, it is thought that the Chinaman must have crept for protection behind the barrels used to supply the boiler with water, and when the engine-house caught fire, he must have been consumed with it. There was a cave at this point, and it is thought that the Chinaman, when the body was consumed in the fierce fire that raged in that vicinity. The six white bodies discovered, none have yet been discovered. William Orr, a miner employed in the East Vancouver colliery, had his leg broken on Monday morning by the fall of a rock from the roof of his shaft.

ROSE SHOW CANCELED
Sir.—The Rose Show has been cancelled for this year owing to the unseasonable weather, and I would be grateful if you will allow me to publicly thank all those merchants throughout Victoria who have allowed me to advertise the Rose Show on their store windows. My thanks are also extended to auto owners for their co-operation.

Victoria has a wonderful community spirit and it is by these gestures of friendly assistance that horticultural bodies can make the city even more beautiful.

AGRICULTURE MARKETING
Sir.—During the season of 1924 a Royal Commission investigated the alleged combine in the distribution of fruit and vegetables. Under date of February 18, 1925, there was issued a report of the findings of this commission, the result of which brought about heavy fines representing thousands of dollars to the brokers handling the small fruits and opened the eyes of hundreds of fruitgrowers to the conditions existing at that time.

Conditions improved for two or three years, but since early in 1928 a berry growers of the Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island have been besieged and deceived by the middleman influence in an effort to again gain complete control of their products. "Grower control," "shipping federations" and the cry for "one-stop distribution" are but "red herrings" to lead us again into a racketeering trap for complete middleman control.

The middleman intrigue and monetary influence during the past eight years has failed to "muddle" the berry growers into marketing legislation, due to intelligent and honest opposition by those who realize that the outcome of such a movement would not be "grower control," but "middleman control," and a levy from the growers of ten cents per crate on some 400,000 crates to the brokerage house alone. A control permitting the allowance to wholesalers of rebates and false "blow-backs," which are but unfair additional profits representing a gross annual "squeeze" of thousands of dollars from the growers' personal property.

Large as it seems, the leader of a struggle of growers who has disorganized his fantastic philosophy for the past number of years could not put over the marketing schemes, but, together with one or two other organizers, in trying to forceracketeering tactics by sending job-hunting disciples out into the fields, not singly but in committees, warning the growers to have intelligence enough to think for themselves that those who refuse to ship through "one big union" will suffer personal harm and property damage. It is reported that at least one large cooperative is being financed by Prairie interests. How long can the growers remain the slaves of a Frankenstein of this nature?

First we had the milk racket, then the potato racket and now it's the small fruits racket. Where will it all end, and how long will the authorities who have permitted these conditions to exist allow the hard-working producers to be frightened and coerced?

Fortunately, some five hundred berry growers, who have had intelligence enough to think for themselves, have an organization which has functioned successfully against these unfair tactics for the past few years, and who have fought diligently for their interests on principles of fair treatment and democracy.

It will be well for these detractors of British justice to remember that in this country these tactics will not be tolerated and no efforts will be spared to bring to time all and sundry responsible for molesting the person or property of any grower engaged in the production and marketing of his product, in accordance with the laws of this country and the principles of British justice.

The time used in Pacific standard time, it is counted from 8 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for high water serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide was at low water continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning. The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt dock, add 5.8 feet to the height of high water as above given.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

WHEN TO MAKE A PROTECTING LEAD

Make a protecting lead when you have no good attacking lead available, usually, when the high card strength of your hand consists mostly of tenace positions, or kings and queens of suits in which declarer is likely to hold a tenace.

One of the best protecting leads is a low doubleton (not headed by an honor). Another is a trump when you hold two or three small trumps. A trump also is an excellent protecting lead when you fear that dummy may have a short suit and you are in a hurry to exhaust dummy's supply of trumps before declarer can establish any ruff.

A worthless three or four card suit (8-7-6, 9-8-4, etc.) also is led as a protecting lead, although it is not as good as the lead of a doubleton. A three card suit headed by one or two honors should be avoided.

TODAY'S HAND

Most players find the greatest trouble in bidding as responder. Also, most of the errors that occur in this respect are on the side of timidity. A player will make two bids in response to partner's original bid or overcall and then, when partner stops short of game, says very plaintively: "But, partner, I thought surely you'd bid again if I bid twice." That is what took place on the following hand:

East, dealer.

JURY URGES PRECAUTIONS

Recommendation Made at Inquest to Insure Safety of Employees

The coroner's jury which yesterday investigated the circumstances surrounding the death of James Craddock, who was killed by a falling limb while he was eating his lunch under a tree near Parsons Bridge on Monday, reached a verdict of accidental death, with a rider attached recommending that those in charge of the work being done by the Department of National Defence should see that all men employed be removed to a safe distance when a blast is to take place.

Walter Rowland, who was working with Mr. Craddock near Parsons Bridge for the Department of National Defence, testified at the inquest that about 11:45 a.m. on Monday the warning was given that a blast was to be set off.

Mr. Craddock had taken his position under a tree to eat his lunch, but the witness said that he regarded the position too close to the blast to be set off, being only about 150 yards away. He went elsewhere to eat his lunch, but Mr. Craddock said that it would be all right where he was.

Later, when witness returned, he found Mr. Craddock dead. A limb had evidently been knocked from the tree by a flying rock, causing his death.

Sgt. John Kellow, of the R.C.E., who was in charge of a party working at the scene, said that the contractors and himself each notified the men under their charges when a blast was to be set off. This was done in the instance. The warning was given about 11:15.

The inquest was conducted before Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart.

RECEIPTS FOR FIGHT GIVEN

Mike Jacobs Announces Returns of Louis-Braddock Title Bout

CHICAGO, June 23 (AP).—Gross receipts for the Braddock-Louis heavyweight championship fight amounted to $715,400.74. Co-promoter Mike Jacobs announced today, after a checkup.

This included $75,000 for the radio and motion picture rights, so the actual gross ticket sale amounted to $640,400.74.

Jacobs said the total attendance was "about 55,000," of which 48,000 represented cash customers.

After deduction of state and Federal taxes, approximating $115,000, the net receipts figured around $525,000. Braddock's 50 per cent share of this amounted to $262,500, and Louis' 17 1/2 per cent "cut" figured to nearly $110,000.

Allowing $50,000 for promotion expenses, the promoters' profits were estimated at close to $100,000.

TENSION RELIEVED WITH NEW CABINET

Severity of the financial situation was indicated by disclosure that the 10,000,000 franc ($450,000,000) fund was almost gone when the Chautemps Government took office. Chautemps' rapid solution of the political crisis—he was offered the premiership Monday morning and announced his ministry the following night—was acclaimed by the Senate which overthrew his predecessor.

PRESERVING AGREEMENT

It was believed Bonnet, fresh from talks with President Roosevelt, would preserve the tripartite monetary agreement with the United States and Great Britain and would avoid any abrupt devaluation or stabilization.

His task was complicated, however, by the fact the stabilization fund, with which France co-operated in working toward a stable international currency, was all but gone.

The fund "soon will be obliged to call for gold from the Bank of France," Professor Charles Rist and Paul Baudouin declared in their letter resigning from the fund control committee.

These men, who quit the committee June 15, said that "already for several weeks the directors have been powerless to relieve the pressure against the gold fund."

Rist and Baudouin appealed for a broad programme of tax increases and asked the Government declare its policy to be a balanced budget.

Because Matern's plane has a cruising radius of only 5,000 miles, he said he would make arrangements to refuel in flight, probably over Fairbanks, Alaska.

The route, over the North Pole as followed by the Russians, is about 6,000 miles long.

Matern said he was confident the Russian Government would co-operate by furnishing weather reports and giving other aid. He said he hoped to start late in July, or early in August. He expressed a desire to compete in the air Derby from Marseille, France, to Damascus, Syria, scheduled to start August 20.

Airport Committee—Members of the recently organized airport committee will meet in the City Hall committee room at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The committee is composed of members of the City Council, Chamber of Commerce and various municipalities.

Rains Aid Forests—General light rains throughout most points of the province, helped halt forest fires this week, with 402 outbreaks reported by the British Columbia Forest Service since the start of the fire season. This number of fires compares with 386 outbreaks at a like date last season.

Meeting of the Men's Canadian Club will be held next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Empress Hotel. Annual reports will be received and officers for the ensuing year will be chosen. Colored moving pictures of the Coronation, taken by R. H. B. Ker, will be shown.

Farm Output Up—The British Columbia Department of Agriculture corroborated 1936 production in the province this week, with $46,750,000 as the gross value of estimated agricultural products last year. This substantiated earlier estimates announced in January last. Production in 1935 had been $42,400,000.

In Radio Broadcast—Captain B. Marceau, of radio station WSPR, Springfield, Mass., has written the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, asking for further information on this city and the Island. With other data, previously supplied through the bureau, he has featured local beauty and travel spots on his vacation travel programme.

Island Highway Work—Surfacing is proceeding at Cowichan Bay and north of Chemainus, on the Island Highway, with reconstruction work at several points north of Nanaimo, the weekly road report of the British Columbia Government disclosed yesterday. Surfacing is in progress also on the Parksville-Alberni route, with new construction seven miles east of Alberni.

Interview Board—Victoria taxi-drivers renewed representations to the British Columbia Industrial Relations Board yesterday, seeking revision of the present minimum wage of $2.50 per day. Some concerns were voluntarily paying in excess of the present minimum, the board was informed. A minimum wage of $3.25 per day was asked by the delegation. Consideration was promised by officials of the board.

Will Assume Post—Gordon B. Wismer, K.C., Liberal member-elect for Vancouver Centre, will arrive in the city towards the end of next week, to take up his new duties as Attorney-General of British Columbia. Mr. Wismer will be sworn in, and will assume the portfolio immediately after July 1 (Dominion Day), it is expected. No other Cabinet changes are anticipated at present.

Want Cathedral Pictures—St. Mary's Church, Woolnoth, known as British Columbia's church in London, England, has written the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, requesting pictures of Christ Church Cathedral and other views of the city and Island, to be hung in the edifice. Requests for pictures have also been received from British Columbia Vacations, Ltd., Sunset Magazine, the Canadian National Magazine, and the Sportsman's Guide.

Case Is Adjudged—The case of James Fisher vs. Frank M. McMahon, V. J. Freeman and E. B. Gibbs, which was commenced in the Supreme Court Tuesday, has been postponed until after the long vacation. It will be brought on again in September. The action is one in which is involved the liability for a note for $500 made in 1932 and connected with a mining deal in B.C. Mr. Freeman denies the signature purporting to be his on the note. F. C. Elliott appears for the plaintiff, and W. C. Thomson, Vancouver, for the defendants.

British Columbia Among Leaders—With 1,572 loans totaling $534,788, British Columbia is third among the provinces of Canada in the total amount spent under the provisions of the Home Improvement Plan, to May 30. For the period between May 15-30, the province is in fourth place, with 168 loans totaling $56,942. The two-fold object of the plan, according to H. J. Lecky, Vancouver, secretary for British Columbia, is the increased employment of our citizens and better homes for our citizens.

Interesting Visitors Here—Arthur Hatton, retired superintendent of car services, Canadian Pacific Railway, is here for a short visit and is registered at the Empress Hotel. Another interesting guest is Norman Holland, managing director of Brandram-Henderson, Ltd., Montreal, paint manufacturers. Mr. Holland, who is a frequent visitor to the city, is a fellow of the Chemical Society of London, England. He is well-known for his extensive research work into paint processes, and for his assistance to many charities.

Sues for Commission—In the County Court yesterday, Judge H. H. Shandley heard evidence in the case of Gilliland & Co. vs. Mrs. L. E. Fox, an action in which a claim is put forward by the plaintiff for $375 held to be due in connection with the sale of the Astor-Apartment Block on Rockland Avenue. The amount is claimed as commission. In connection with the transaction, J. A. Playfair entered into the negotiations, and Wallace Brown, of Keating, was indirectly brought into the case regarding the purchase of his property. J. B. Clearhue, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff, and Norman W. Whitaker, K.C., for the defendant. The case was not concluded yesterday and will be continued this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

NANAIMO, June 22.—Approximately 2,200 sea lions, adults and pups, were destroyed by the Dominion Fisheries patrol yesterday, according to Captain A. M. Henderson.

The boat has just completed a three-week cruise of the rookeries and Virgin and Pearl Rocks, near Pivers Inlet, and the Haycocks, on the West Coast of the Island, beyond Cape Scott.

KILLED BY RIFLES—The animals are killed by rifle fire. In previous years a machine gun was used. The record number of 2,827 were slain in 1925. Hunting of sea lions, this year, was made more hazardous by the heavy surf. Fishermen in the Rivers Inlet area, which is in the heart of the sockeye district, stated that reducing the number of sea lions this year, means conservation of their fishing gear and nets, and also of the fish, which are often destroyed even while in the nets or on the trolling lines.

TO BOOST CROPS IN CASE OF WAR—TORONTO, June 23 (AP).—Soundings a warning Ontario's prospective bumper crop might be needed in the event of a European war, Premier Hepburn tonight launched a campaign to put unemployed men to work on Ontario farms.

The Government will pay transportation of men from their present home to the farm jobs. The jobs, as last year, will be open to single men as well, and every effort will be made to encourage the single man to go on the farm.

"We have the most bountiful crop in our history," the Premier said. "It is absolutely imperative that we take full advantage of it and handle it properly because, with an acute feed shortage in the West and the possibility of a European war becoming more and more acute, the North American Continent in the near future may be the only continent that can be turned to for food supplies."

 All employable married men now registered and receiving relief will be able, under the plan, to accept farm work without having to account for the money they earn so long as they retain it for the use of themselves and their families. Lady Floud Is Keenly Interested in Painting

One of the most stimulating people to interview because of her varied interests, balanced outlook, sincere and vivid personality, Lady Floud, wife of Sir Francis Floud, British High Commissioner to Canada, on arrival yesterday at the Empress Hotel, where with her husband she is spending several days, announced her hope of visiting and seeing the work of Miss Emily Carr, internationally known local artist.

EASTERN PAINTING

An artist herself, Lady Floud has exhibited at the New English Art Club, London, England. Since her arrival at Ottawa two and one-half years ago, she has become president of the Art Association of that city, and is painting the Canadian scene as she sees it. Her "Sorting Logs on the Gatineau" was done on a raft in the river. Another picture "Sawing Ice on Rideau River," she says presented difficulties. She drove her car as near the scene as possible, stayed as long as she could each day without getting frozen, and having persuaded some of the men to pose for her, finished the work in her town studio. She hopes to see her raking while in Victoria and make notes for a picture of it.

Lady Floud thinks Frederick Verley, English Toronto artist, once in the West and now in Ottawa, is as brilliant a teacher as the late Professor Tonks of the Slado School, London. In the course of conversation, she revealed the fact that Eric Newton, art critic of The Manchester Guardian, was asked to call on Miss Carr while in Victoria, by art authorities in England.

DISTINGUISHED SPEAKER

Lady Floud is also a distinguished speaker, usually on art subjects, and occasionally over the radio. She spoke recently on a coast-to-coast international hookup.

Tall, slender, active, yesterday wearing a grey tulleur with jade green blouse and jade stud earrings, she loves to swim—has done so on every opportunity on her long trip across the continent—play tennis, golf and skate.

After the wedding service, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Loftis, Saanich. The bride and groom will sail on the liner Monowai on July 9 for New Zealand, where they will make their home.

World's Youngest Pilot Goes Solo

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP).—Edward Somers, twelve-year-old member of an air-minded family, was acclaimed today as one of the youngest pilots ever to fly an airplane alone.

Edward yesterday made his first solo flight 3,000 feet over Floyd Bennett Field. His father is Andrew L. Somers, a Great War flyer.

Trafford Taylor Head of Kiwanis

INDIANAPOLIS, June 23 (AP).—P. Trafford Taylor, of St. Boniface, Man., was elected unanimously to the presidency of Kiwanis International for 1937-38 at the annual international convention here today. He is the first Canadian to hold the office in fifteen years.

programme of sports has been arranged by the committee. There also will be a dance in the hall in the evening with a good orchestra in attendance.

Patrick disappeared from Ireland and no trace of him having been discovered for years, his relatives divided his effects, after securing legal presumption of death.

Ten years later the wanderer returned from the United States and made application to the local court for the restoration of his property.

"I cannot grant such an order," said the magistrate, "for, in the eyes of the law, you are dead."

"It's a lively corpse I am, I'm thinking," was the reply, emphasized by a violent outburst against authority and a demand for fair play. It ended with the plea: "Now, will yer honor issue an order?"

"I will," the magistrate agreed. "Constable, remove that apparition."

It's a great ribbon season, ribbon being a favorite trim for millinery and also for dresses. Bretelles on evening gowns are being revived. Bretelles are ornamental shoulder straps, in case the word is unfamiliar. In several collections evening frocks have square ribbon shoulder straps, velvet, grosgrain or satin, tied on top of the shoulder in perky bows. This treatment makes a frock look new.

FREAK OF LIGHTNING

CHAPTER XXII

The door was unlocked. Going in, Eden looked in the living-room and saw Vicky, curled upon the sofa, wearing Eden's blue corduroy lounging pyjamas, her dark curls disheveled, a book of spelling open on her lap.

Eden introduced them and Vicky smiled. "Oh, we met at the door when I told him where I thought he could find you." There was delight in her eyes. "Eden was so excited when she had ever been and she thought Neil the handsomest man she had ever seen. They looked. You could not put into words how they looked, she thought."

"She just left a few minutes ago and said she wouldn't be home tonight and asked us to get our own breakfast." She went to see a lady. "I've forgotten the name—she's sick. Somebody called and asked her to spend the night." Closing the book, she arose and smothered a sleepy yawn. "I think I'll go to bed. I have to take a test tomorrow."

When she left, Eden said, "Then I won't tell mother until you get back, Neil. I want her to know first. How long will you be gone?" "No longer than I can help." He took her close and kissed her again. "And if I kiss you once more, I may never get that train at all and I'd lose my job. Now I need my job more than I've ever needed it. You're coming to the station with me. I'll leave Dave's car there. He can pick it up in the morning. I'll send you back in a cab."

Always she would remember the drive downtown with Neil's hand over hers and running through the snow together into the station. His train left in five minutes.

Standing by the gate, he said, "This is the last time we'll say good-bye, Eden."

Her eyes, dark and lovely, looked up. "Tonight was so beautiful, Neil. I think it was just for us. The snow."

"I won't call you," he said. "Telephone conversations are always unsatisfactory. When I get back, we won't plan." He smiled. "We'll be married at once."

The gates were opened and they hurried down the steps to the tracks. Then his arms went around her and he pressed his mouth on hers in a hurried kiss and left her. Eden stood very still, her eyes glistening, and smiled and lifted her hand. Then the train moved slowly down the tracks into the darkness.

Passing through the waiting room again, she realized that tired, cold travelers were staring at her, a girl in brown with flying blonde hair and snow melting on the shoulders of the brown leather jacket.

A cab took her home. Vicky was sitting up in bed, trying hard to stay awake when Eden came in and closed the door and leaned against it. She could tell Vicky, she thought, whose eyes were bright with curiosity, and ask her not to tell anyone. She had to tell someone! She had to hear the words.

Coming to the bed, she smiled down on the younger girl. "Vicky, I'm going to tell you a secret. I'm—I'm going to marry Neil Dane when he comes back from New York, and I'm going to South America with him! We came to tell mother tonight, but now we'll have to wait until Neil gets back because I want him with me when she knows. She hasn't met him yet. She's never heard me speak of him."

"Oh, Eden, that's wonderful! I knew that something... the way you looked when you came in. I don't think I'll ever forget how you looked then." She wrinkled her small nose and grinned. "I like him better than David." Then, smiling, she said, "That's the way I want to be in love someday, Eden. Because I want to be just like you."

Eden smiled tenderly at her. "I hope it will be like this for you, too." And gave a broken little laugh. "I suppose I'll have to manage to exist somehow until he comes back! I didn't want him to leave me. I'd have married him tonight. She touched Vicky's hand. "You'd better get some sleep, dear. You have a test in typing tomorrow."

"Thanks for telling me about Neil. I won't tell a soul."

 of conversation that Denmark was a better customer of Great Britain than Canada, but intimated that the close proximity of the Dominion to the United States provided a natural channel into which the commerce of this country would find its way.

"We most certainly will visit the Fairbridge Farm School," he commented. "Our people are most interested in the scheme."

Asked if there was a likelihood in the near future of the recommendation of immigration from Britain to Canada, Sir Francis replied that when the time came when this nation again wanted immigrants, England would provide them.

He declared that he was greatly impressed by the immensity of the West, and deeply interested in farming conditions, not only in other provinces, but on Vancouver Island.

CANADA'S PROBLEMS
 His interest in agriculture is only natural, since he was associated with the Board of Agriculture from 1894 to 1927, and for the last seven years of that time as permanent secretary.

With a vast area, and a small population, Canada had problems that were definitely its own, and Sir Francis was reluctant to give his opinion regarding the Dominion's future.

The manner in which mining was progressing, did, however, bring comment from the visitor.

He admitted that he and Lady Floud were kept exceptionally busy in the two weeks immediately preceding the abdication of King Edward VIII. All communications to the Canadian Government came through him. With his secretary, they worked day and night decoding the messages, and at the same time carried on their ordinary social engagements.

Sir Francis and Lady Floud came to Victoria by way of Prince Rupert and Vancouver, and will remain here until Friday, when Sir Francis will address the Men's Canadian Club. They will return to Ottawa via Lake Louise and Regina.

OPEN DAY IS BIG SUCCESS

Annual Display of Work and Entertainment Held at Lampson Street School

With approximately 300 parents and friends present, the annual "open day" of the Lampson Street School was observed yesterday. In addition to a programme of entertainment presented by the pupils, the parents witnessed routine classroom activity and viewed the many samples of work done by the children.

The entertainment and exhibits, as explained by H. W. Creelman, principal, were entirely the work of the pupils, the teachers taking no hand in the arrangements. Although some of the displays may not have shown finished workmanship, they were, nevertheless, illustrative of the children's own originality, as developed under the new curriculum of studies, the principal stated.

At 2 o'clock, in the assembly hall, the programme of singing, plays and dances commenced. Songs were given by the different classes, individually and in groups. Folk dancing and musical selections, embodied in the new curriculum, were also presented.

PLAYLETS GIVEN
 Several playlets, directed and played entirely by the children themselves, formed an interesting portion of the programme. The young directors and actors chose stories from their readers and tales based on British Columbia's natural resources for their presentations. Talent was drawn from grades four to six, inclusive.

A comparatively new innovation in the curriculum was the choral reading by the pupils of grade eight.

Following this section of the programme, the parents and guests visited the different classrooms at 3:45 o'clock, where they witnessed the classroom activity. Concluding a successful "open day," the guests were next privileged to view the examples of work done by the pupils.

Replete with originality, the examples varied from large illustrations for the story of "Ivanhoe" to plasticine models. Two samples of endeavor, made by the students in grade eight, working in teams under a captain, were scale models of the assembly hall stage and the Esquimalt graving dock. Measurements for both projects were taken by the students themselves and the models made to order.

DRAWINGS DISPLAYED

Teams also collaborated on the illustrations for "Ivanhoe" resulting in some finished drawings. Drawings were displayed by pupils from the lower grades, ranging from pencil, crayons, charcoal and water colors to pen-and-ink illustrations. Several types of lettering were also displayed.

Not the least of the exhibits was a clever model float advertising a jewelry concern. Other classrooms contained geological exhibits and numerous types and varieties of coal. Too numerous to mention in their entirety were other models, houses, miniature islands, barnyard scenes, etc.

Refreshments were served as the concluding feature on the varied programme.

ITALY-GERMANY WITHDRAW SHIPS

 Italy acted in concert with Germany, announcing she noted in the failure of the London conversations "the lack of collaboration necessary for common action relative to the knowledge of incidents which occurred during the international control."

Foreign Secretary Eden faced three problems:
 1. Constitution of a new control scheme.
 2. Smoothing of Anglo-German relations.

3. New consideration of the question of granting belligerent rights to the Spaniards regime.

BRITAIN'S PROBLEM
 Without Italy and Germany patrolling their zones around Spain, British sources pointed out the British Government faces two alternatives: Withdrawal herself from the patrol; or repairing the gaps in the cord with aid by France.

Germany and Italy left the patrol last month after Spanish warplanes bombed their warships, but were wooed back by a plan designed to guarantee the security of neutral vessels in Spanish waters.

The British Government sent new instructions to its warships off the Basque coast to protect ships carrying refugees from Santander and Bilbao. It was stipulated the refugees may be only women and children.

Insurgent Gen. Francisco Franco, it was disclosed, protested to London the British steamship Marian Moller carried refugees of military age. The vessel was stopped yesterday by an insurgent armed trawler as she was taking refugees to France from Santander.

REICH MOVES SHIPS

BERLIN, June 23 (CP-Havas).—Germany placed a question mark before European diplomacy, tonight, by discontinuing participation in the Spanish neutrality naval patrol in anger over British and French refusal to indict Valencia for alleged attacks against the Reich cruiser Leipzig.

The Reich moved to strengthen its naval forces in the Mediterranean by dispatching its crack pocket battleship, the Admiral Graf Spee, there.

Semi-official statements accompanied the Reich's announcement it

TACOMA, June 23 (P).—A big guy from Seattle by the name of Fred Leonard, who hit the ball harder than it rained, if that was possible, stole the show in the first round of the Pacific Northwest amateur golf tournament today when he eliminated one of the chief threats of the meet, Stan Leonard, of Vancouver, B.C., recent winner of the Northwest open championship.

And among those who joined Leonard on the side lines—and were probably glad to see him after getting drenched in the cold rain storm—were three former champions, Forest Watson and Dixie Fleager, of Seattle, and Rudie Wilhelm, of Portland.

Lyman, keeping fairly close to par over the Tacoma Country and Golf Club course, led Leonard all the way and bounced him out of the competition, four and three.

Carl Bowman, Yakima, side-tracked Watson at an extra hole; Chuck Hunter disposed of Fleager, two and one, and Ralph Whaley, Seattle, measured off Wilhelm, three and two.

Leonard, fighting the blustery wind and an erratic game, lost two holes on the first nine and never was able to get going. He failed to reach a single green with his approach shots, and at times was smothering and hooking his woods.

HAS CLOSE CALL

One of the biggest surprises of the day was the close finish of defending champion Harry Givan, of Seattle, after he had gained a five-up lead over Harry Miller, Seattle, on the outward nine.

Givan lost the twelfth, fourteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth holes to two birdies and two pars, and was forced to travel to the last hole to squeeze out victory, two and two.

Minor upset was Bob Van De Mark, of Tacoma, conquer Al Harrington, Yakima, one up, on the last hole, and Lee Stiel, Seattle, easily eliminated Harold Salvador, promising young Portland ace, four and two.

Kenny Black, Vancouver, former British Columbia amateur and open champion, made the most sensational comeback when he defeated Ed Joe Rawlings, Tacoma, two and one, after losing three of the first four holes.

For the seventh consecutive time in two years of tournament competition, Sherman Elworthy, Seattle, defeated his fellow townsman, Dick Beckett, six and four.

Seattle captured half the remaining sixteen places in the match play competition for the start of the double killings tomorrow, when both the round of sixteen and the quarter-finals will be played.

The Seattle men surviving the pace today were Jack Westland, Scotty Campbell, Rudy Holm, Stiel, Givan, Lyman, Elworthy and Whaley.

Tacoma survivors were Bill Host, Hunter and Van De Mark; Portland, Don Moe and Don Thompson; Vancouver, Black; Yakima, Bowman, and Olympia, Bud Ward.

WOMEN'S TOURNEY

TACOMA, Wash., June 23 (P).—Led by Nancy Hurst, of Portland, and escorted by that old bogey—the mental handicap—favorites in the Pacific Northwest golf tournament for women pushed through the second round of medal play today with only one casualty.

Miss Hurst, co-medalist, won from Muriel Veatch, of Longview, Wash., three and two, while the figure of the mental handicap peeked over her shoulder.

Half a dozen times in the past few seasons Misses Veatch and Hurst have faced each other in match play, and although at other times their play seems well-balanced, the Longview girl always has suffered acute attacks of jitters against the youthful Portlander, who plays habitually with a long Turkish towel wrapped around her throat. The handicap showed up again in the day's play when Mrs. W. H. Dean, of Tacoma, eliminated Ruth Canale, youthful sharpshooter who also hails from Tacoma, four and three. Though Miss Canale has shown herself extremely adept at tournament play, she has repeatedly fallen victim to the more experienced Mrs. Dean, who eliminated her in the Tacoma city tournament last year.

Other favorites who moved into the quarter-finals include Marian McDougall, Portland, defending champion; Mrs. B. K. Eva, Oregon, closed champion, and Joan Mahon, Washington State public links champion, and Barbara Winn, Seattle's hope in the tournament.

CITY DEFEATS PICKED SQUAD

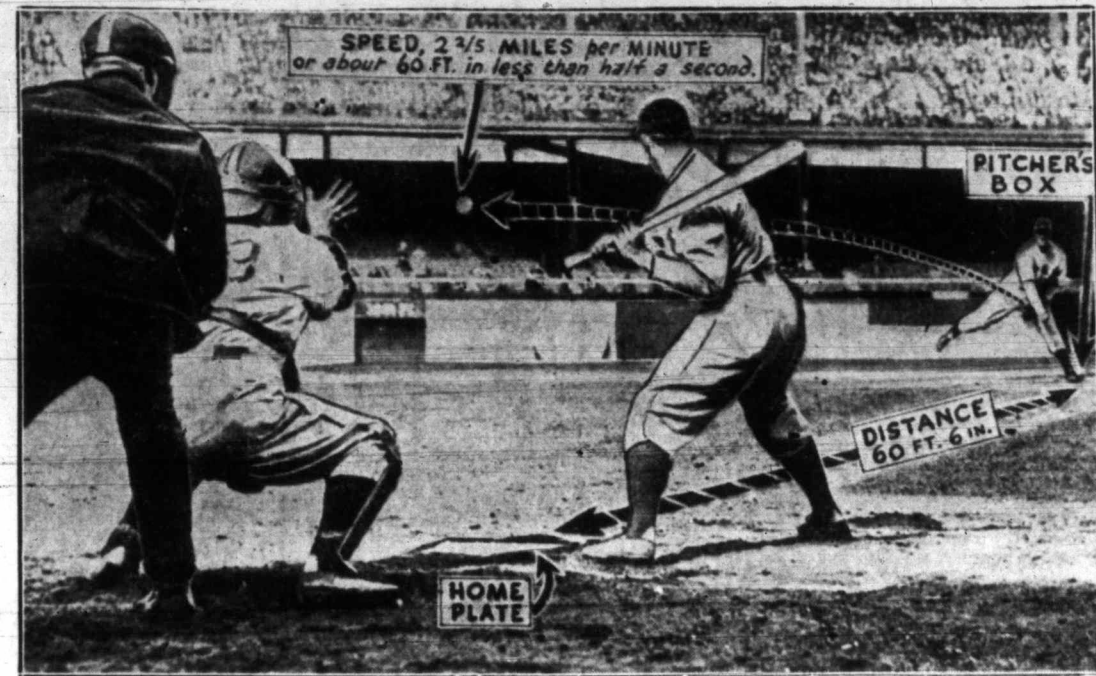

Noses Out Mid-Week All-Stars, 3-2, In Exhibition Soccer Match

With George Brandow heading home the winning marker seconds before the final whistle, Victoria City just managed to eke out a 3-2 victory over the Wednesday Foot-Ball League All-Stars in an exhibition soccer match yesterday evening at Heywood Avenue.

Wednesday Leaguers did all of their scoring in the initial stanza and enjoyed a 2-0 lead at the breather. Alex Ross, Navy player, scored both goals within two minutes of each other. The first came at the fifteen-minute mark and culminated a fine combination movement, and the second and last goal for the losers was scored two minutes later.

Held at bay by a stubborn and bustling mid-week defence, Victoria City went scoreless until ten minutes before the end of the match. George Payne, outside left, rifled a first-time past Norm Stewardson after Youson crossed from the opposite lane. About a minute later, the score was dead-

Batter Must Think Fast When Up at Plate

This photo-diagram gives you an idea of how it is possible for a catcher—or a batter—to be beamed by a pitched ball. Traveling a distance of 60 feet 6 inches at the rate of a mile in 25 seconds, the ball takes less than half a second to speed from the pitcher's hand to the plate. Catcher and batter must think and act with lightning rapidity to receive the ball. Small wonder that Mickey Cochrane lost track of the ball for the fraction of a second that cost him a fractured skull.

ENGLISHMAN SCORES EASY VICTORY OVER AMERICAN NET STAR

Captures Straight-Set Decision as Tennis Tournament Continues at Wimbledon—Former Calgary Girl Advances—Crawford, Budge and Von Cramm Chalk Up Easy Triumphs

WIMBLEDON, June 23 (P).—H. W. (Bunny) Austin indicated today he is approaching the peak of his game, as he always does, when time rolls around for defence of the Davis Cup. The British No. 1 player overpowered Wayne Sabin, of the United States, in the second round of the All-England tennis championships.

Austin made a chopping block of the American, who almost upset him five days ago in the Queen's Club tournament. The 6-2, 6-3, 6-0 victory was as convincing as those scored by Don Budge, of the United States, and Baron Gottfried von Cramm, Germany, seeded 1 and 2 in the title event.

While these men stars were advancing, a former Canadian girl, Jean Saunders, of Calgary, kept pace with the highly-ranked women by winning a second round encounter with Margaret Riddell, Great Britain, 6-4, 6-4.

Miss Saunders also won a first round doubles match with her partner, Karl Schroeder, of Sweden. They defeated J. F. H. Lyaght and Billy Yorke, of England, 4-6, 8-6, 9-7.

CRAWFORD ADVANCES
Jack Crawford, Australian veteran, who upset Roderich Menzel, seeded Czech, in the opening round, moved into the third round with a 6-4, 8-6, 6-1 victory over E. D. Andrews, of New Zealand.

Don Budge, the United States chief hope, beat George Patrick Hughes, British Davis Cup player, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

Janet Moynihan, of Australia, seeded star, won from D. C. Coombe, of New Zealand, 6-3, 6-3, 6-7, 6-2.

Jack Bromwich, eighteen-year-old Australian, beat Vernon G. Kirby, of South Africa, 7-5, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Frank Kukuljevic, of Yugoslavia, eliminated the young United States player, Hal Surface, in a five-set duel, 5-7, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3, 9-7.

Robert Tinkler, young Briton, took a lead of two sets to one over Heinrich Henkel, of Germany, third seeded player, but Henkel pulled himself together and ran out the match at 2-6, 7-5, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Hilda Krawinkel, Spelling, of Denmark and Germany, second seeded player, gained the fourth round of women's singles, defeating Marie Louise Horn, of Germany, 6-2, 6-0.

Jadwiga Jendzewska, of Poland, beat Miss B. G. Beasley, of Great Britain, 6-1, 6-1, in another second round match.

Mrs. Dorothy Andrus, of the United States, reached the third round with a 6-3, 6-4 triumph over Billy Yorke, of England.

CHAMPION TRIUMPHS
Helen Jacobs, defending champion in the women's division, crushed Mary Heeley, of England, 6-3, 6-1, to reach the fourth round. Anita Lizana, Chilean star, won

DURING THE OHIO FLOOD, 1937, A HOUSE FLOATED IN ON THE FOUNDATION OF ANOTHER HOUSE THAT HAD BEEN CARRIED AWAY BY THE FLOOD WATERS.

EXPLANATION FOR TUESDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

Sister Ships to the Very End—Two sister oil tankers slipped down the ways in San Francisco Bay in 1914 within a few months of each other, with nothing to fortell the strange series of coincidences that fate stored up for them. The Lyman Stewart and the Frank H. Buck were built from the same plans, by the same shipbuilders, with identical dimensions and specifications, and both went into the same service.

All went well until the Saturday afternoon of October 7, 1922, when the Lyman Stewart, during a fog and heavy ground swell, collided with a liner in Golden Gate, being struck in the bow and going down by the head. On Saturday afternoon of March 6, 1937, also during a fog and heavy ground swell, the Frank H. Buck met exactly the same fate, being struck in the same place, even being surveyed by the same salvage master. The Frank H. Buck now rests squarely atop her sister ship, her engine rooms only thirty feet apart. Who could perform such a deed except the Seven Seas?

Jacobs Signs Up New Titleholder For Long Period

CHICAGO, June 23 (P).—Mike Jacobs, New York promoter of last night's heavy-weight title fight here, announced today he had signed a renewal contract with Joe Louis, the new champion. Jacobs said the contract gave him exclusive rights to the brown bomber's pugilistic services for the next five years.

The contract guaranteed the titleholder, who knocked out James J. Braddock in the eighth round last night, four fights a year. It replaced a previous five-year contract which had three years to run.

Jacobs also said he had signed a three-year contract with Braddock which guarantees action for the de-throned champion.

TIME OUT! By Chet Smith

The Wife Insisted on a Basement So We Could Have a Ping Pong Table.

THE TUTTS ... By Crawford Young

Jane Dixon Says:

WHEN WE ARE IN DOUBT AS TO WHICH OF TWO PERSONS WE LOVE, THE MORE WE MAY SAFELY DISMISS OUR UNCERTAINTY

Real love never doubts its choice. When we are in doubt as to which of two persons we love the more, we may safely dismiss our uncertainty. The truth is that we love neither of them with that deep and abiding affection which makes love a bitter emptiness, and tears heartstrings from their moorings.

My dear Miss Dixon: What does a fellow do when he cares a lot for two girls and can't make up his mind which is the one and only? I've been trying to decide this question for several months, and am no nearer the answer than I was in the beginning. In fact, the longer I know them, and the more I see them, the surer I am that I love them both. When I'm with X I'm sure she is the right girl. Then I go to see Z and she seems to be my best bet.

Both girls are about the same age. Both are good looking, good nature, like the same things I do, and have had equal advantages. One plays the piano like a professional and the other has a fine singing voice. Both dance like dreams, and have all their dances taken when they go to parties, so a fellow never has to worry about looking out for them or having them on his hands all evening.

I have reason to believe these girls feel toward me as I do toward them, and that if I proposed to them they would accept me. How can I decide between them and be sure I'm right?—Bill B.

Answer: Don't decide between them, Bill. Wait a while. Be friendly with them, enjoy their company, but delay any serious avowals of love or invitations to marry until you find the girl you know you must have as a life partner for home and for happiness.

One of the girls who have you in a muddle, either X or Z, may be your woman of destiny. Neither may be that woman. Don't tempt Fate nor try to force Fate. Your heart will tell you the truth when the time is ripe for you to know the truth.

Suppose you proposed to X and discovered a little later that it is Z you love? You'd be a whole lot more muddled than you are now, and someone would be hurt, badly, for your mistake. Better to be cautious than to be sorry.

Nice that these girls are accomplished, but consider this, Bill, in making a choice: Marriage is not a song and a dance. It is a formidable undertaking, a serious business in which a competent cook may out-general a gifted piano player or a prima donna.

Again, my advice to you is to make haste slowly. Here is a test you might use. If you were in a position of great danger with both girls and could save only one of them, which would you save?

The first one to flash into your mind is the right one of these two, for your heart has telegraphed the message.

Peerless Fashion Patterns

Edited by LAURA I. BALDY, A.M.
(For many years Assistant Professor of Household Arts, Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York, N.Y.)

Whether you're a miss or a matron, this young flared shirtwaist frock will have instant appeal. It's so smart and practical in cotton, linen or tub silk print for casual day wear for town or country. The belt may be self-fabric or patent leather in a color picked out of the print.

There's such charm and grace in the fitted gored flared skirt. The printed shirt collar is so feminine and pretty. Or perhaps you prefer the tailored V neck.

If you want this model definitely for town, a dark plain or printed sheer in cucumber—cool and smart. For the country, colorful Mexican prints and gypsy stripes and dotted cottons are fetching.

Crispy crush-resistant linen in pastel shades or white and washable summer silks are delightful fabrics. The pattern is so easily followed with the aid of the sewing instruction chart included.

Style No. 3047 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch material with 1 yard of 35-inch contrast.

Yours for the asking this Summer. Clothes haven't been so feminine, so romantic for many a moon. Take advantage of the new mode, make yourself the most beguiling creature you have ever been. Don't miss the Summer issue of The New Fashion Magazine. It is the gayest number yet. Just filled with sparkling new designs—so easy to make—to fill your vacation needs.

What Today Means

"CANCER"
If June 24 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m., from 2:15 to 4:15 p.m. and from 8:15 to 10:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:15 to 10:15 a.m. and from 6:15 to 8:15 p.m. and from 10:15 p.m. until midnight.

Be careful not to allow interruptions to divert too much of your time this day, for it will be through the inconsideration of thoughtless people that well-laid plans are likely to be upset. Prevailing conditions will incline the average person to be extremely talkative. Much foolish gossip will be indulged in, and much time wasted in this way. Ingenuity will inspire questions, many of them being of a prying or of a controversial nature. Think twice before answering any. Verbal agreements are likely to lead to future disputes, so insist that all promises involving business transactions be written. Plan your social activities well in advance this day, for if left to the last minute appointments are liable to occur. Married and engaged couples, as well as sweethearts, must evince an interest in whatever is confided to them this day. A bored attitude will provoke resentment, which is likely to terminate in a quarrel.

If a woman and June 24 is your birthday, you are keenly interested in the welfare of your family and friends to the point, perhaps, of hampering your own affairs. Children should have a strong appeal for you, and you ought to be able to gain their confidence with very little effort. You, perhaps, are very sentimental, and your heart rather than business judgment guides you in financial transactions. Be careful in this respect, for it might be too costly in the long run. Your active imagination is apt to be responsible for your discovering the way to make a great deal of money. As a playwright, musician, author, teacher or sales agent you ought to do well financially. Indications are that you will marry well and happily.

The child born on June 24, has, as a rule, a retentive memory, the capacity to absorb knowledge quickly and the knack of getting through school with comparatively little trouble. If this youngster enters upon a career after graduating, a bright future seems in store.

If a man and June 24 is your natal day, if you look forward, and let the past take care of itself, your advancement should be rapid. As a geologist, author, manufacturer, inventor, sales representative, clergyman or engineer you should do unusually well.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Paddy the Beaver Finishes His House
—By THORNTON W. BURGESS

"Is your house all done?" asked Jerry Muskrat as he sat in the splendid great bedroom of Paddy the Beaver's new house.

"No," replied Paddy. "Oh, my, no! It must be plastered and I must have a nice bed. This floor is too muddy; it wouldn't do at all. It would be damp and uncomfortable in cold weather, so I must have a bed that will be dry, for, you know, I will spend most of my time here when my pond is frozen over."

"Yes, I know," replied Jerry. You see he spends the Winter in his snug house in the Smiling Pool.

"And so I guess it is time for me to get to work again," added Paddy.

"Can I help?" asked Jerry.

Paddy thought for a few minutes. "I guess you can help me plaster if you like, and I will be ever so much obliged to you for your help," said he. With that he led the way down one of the smooth halls into the water. He scooped up both hands full of mud and Jerry did the same. Then they rose to the surface and Paddy plastered the mud on the outside of the walls.

How they worked. You see Paddy insisted that his walls must be very thick. He brought brushy tops of trees and pieces of sod and worked them into the framework he had built. And mud—such a lot of mud! He plastered it all over the walls and roof, and the walls grew thicker and thicker. The top of the roof he did not plaster so thickly. Jerry noticed it and he knew right away why. It was because Paddy needed a little air down in that splendid great room, and it would have to come in through the top of the roof. So Paddy left little breathing places. You wouldn't have known it from the outside, but they were there just the same.

"Now," said Paddy as he patted the last bit of mud into place, "that's what I call a real house. Old Jack Frost and rough Brother North Wind can freeze things as hard as they please for all I care. They can't reach me in there. Yes, sir, that's what I call a good house. What do you think about it, Cousin Jerry?"

"I think it is a perfectly splendid house, Cousin Paddy. I do, indeed! I wish, I wish—" Jerry stopped and looked a little bit confused.

"What do you wish?" asked Paddy.

"I—I wish, I hadn't said things about your house building," replied Jerry, hanging his head. "You see, I laughed at you and I
